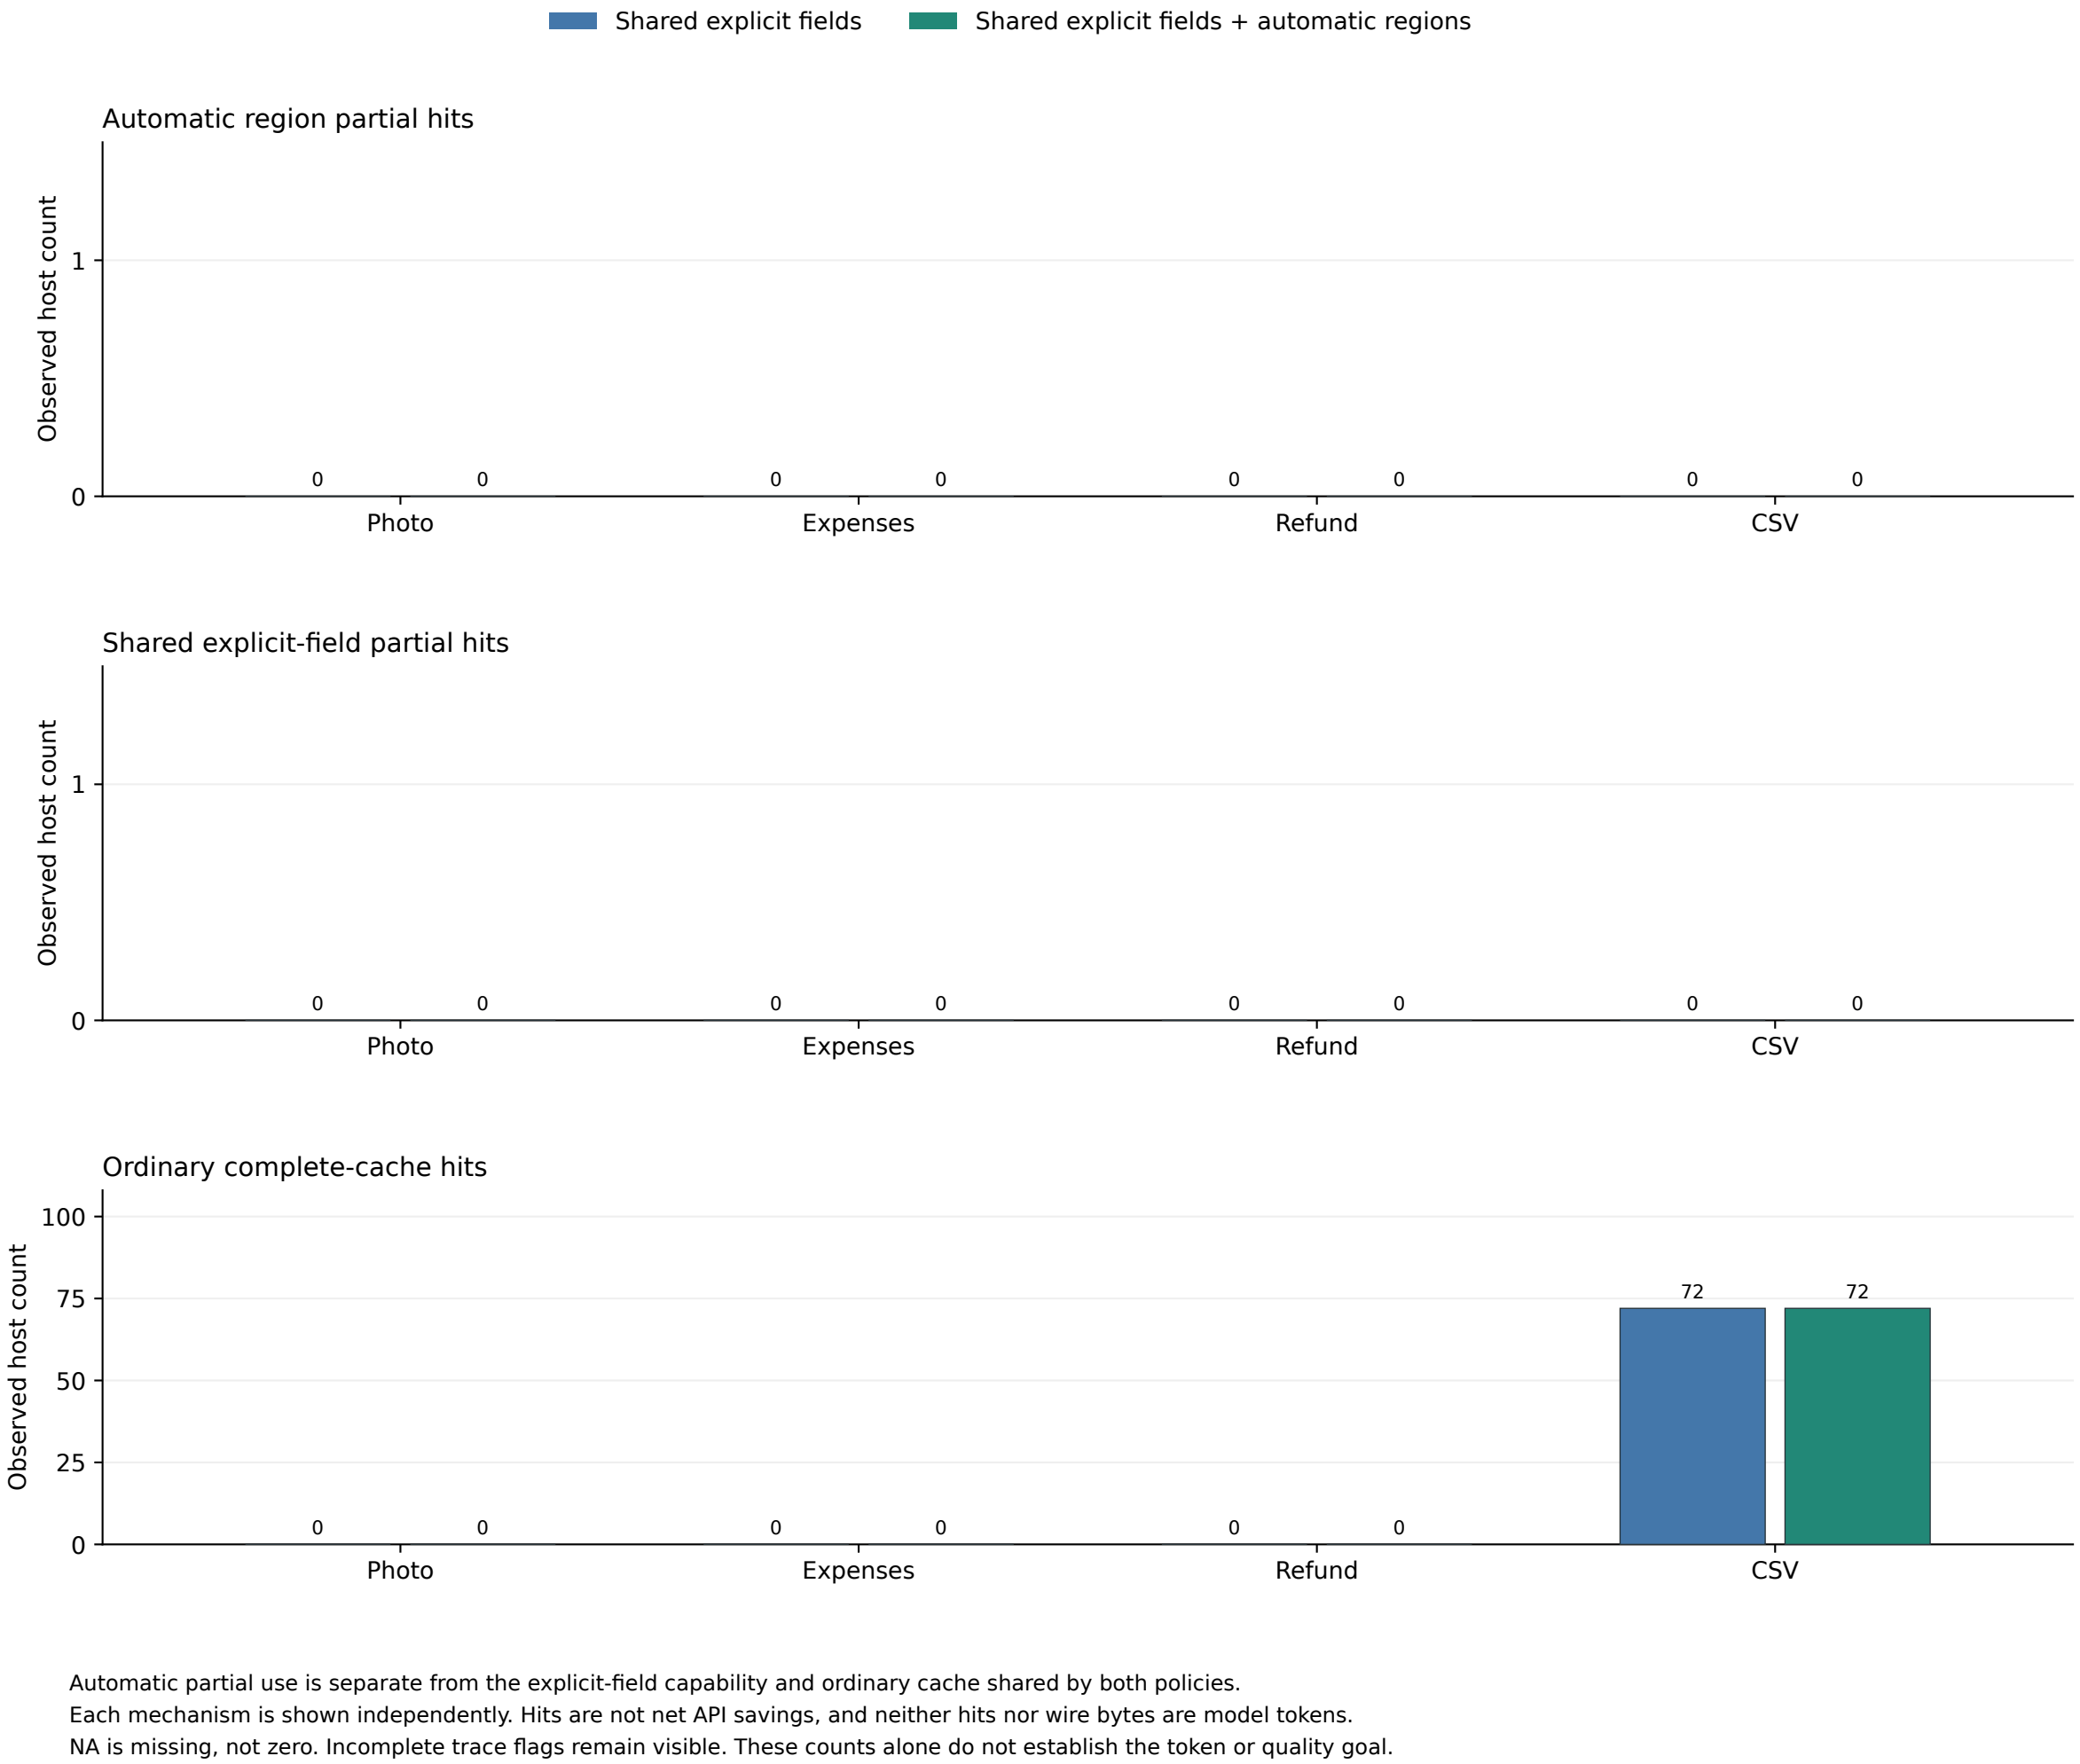
P127 — fixed known-task development comparison



Automatic partial use is separate from the explicit-field capability and ordinary cache shared by both policies.
Each mechanism is shown independently. Hits are not net API savings, and neither hits nor wire bytes are model tokens.
NA is missing, not zero. Incomplete trace flags remain visible. These counts alone do not establish the token or quality goal.